

participatory learning and action

Number 50
October 2004

Photo: Holly Ashley

Participants at Participatory Learning and Action 50th writeshop discuss the timeline. From left to right, back row: Michel Pimbert, Louise Chawla, Charlotte Flower, John Gaventa, Vicky Johnson, Robert Chambers, David Archer; front row: Sammy Musyoki, Jane Stevens

THEME SECTION: CRITICAL REFLECTIONS, FUTURE DIRECTIONS

1. Foreword Jenny Rietbergen-McCracken	10
2. Overview Nicole Kenton and Holly Ashley	11
3. Reflections and directions: a personal note Robert Chambers	23
4. Participation, literacy and empowerment: the continuing evolution of Reflect David Archer and Nandago Maria Goreth	35
5. Voices aloud: making communication and change together Oga Steve Abah	45
6. Reflections on gender and participatory development Nazneen Kanji	53
7. Not for children only: lessons learnt from young people's participation Louise Chawla and Vicky Johnson	63
8. Participation in sexual and reproductive well-being and rights Gill Gordon and Andrea Cornwall	73
9. Gender, participation, health and positive thinking: a personal perspective Alice Welbourn	81
10. Participatory methods and the measurement of well-being Sarah White and Jethro Pettit	88
11. Rights, advocacy and participation – what's working? Jethro Pettit and Sammy Musyoki	97
12. Completing the globe: tackling poverty and injustice in the North Charlotte Flower and Vicky Johnson	107
13. Tools and methods for empowerment developed by slum and pavement dwellers' federations in India Sheela Patel	117
14. Natural resources, people and participation Michel Pimbert	131
15. Participatory approaches in animal healthcare: from practical applications to global-level policy reform Andy Catley	140
16. Participatory development or participatory democracy? Linking participatory approaches to policy and governance John Gaventa	150
17. Shifting perceptions, changing practices in PRA: from infinite innovation to the quest for quality Andrea Cornwall and Irene Guijt	160
18. Regina's Participatory Learning and Action illustration challenge Regina Faul-Doyle	168

CONTENTS

GENERAL SECTION

19. Beyond continuum thinking: participatory development is possible even in wartimes!
Benedikt Korf 170

20. Participatory monitoring of sanitation: Wotawati hamlet, Indonesia
Kumala Sari and the Pradipta Paramitha Team 180

21. From MPA to NPA: Participatory assessment of water and sanitation projects in rural Nepal
AJ James, Raju Khadka, Michelle Moffatt and Corine Otte 190

REGULARS

Editorial 3

Tips for Trainers 195

 Quoting the issues
Alice Welbourn 195

 Photographs
Reflect 196

 Ground rules
Andrea Cornwall and Gill Gordon 198

 Fishbowl
Gill Gordon 200

 Ranking lines: exploring local indicators of wealth and health
Vicky Johnson and Robert Nurick 202

In Touch 204

RCPLA Network 214

Robert Chambers maps out the timeline at the Participatory Learning and Action 50th writeshop, April 2004

Photo: Nicole Kenton